“Regulating the Innovators: Approval Costs and Innovation in Medical Technologies.”

Selected for presentation at NBER workshops: 2023 SI Innovation; 2023 Economics of Health; 2023 Economic Analysis of Regulation

Media coverage: Marginal Revolution

SELECTED WORKS IN PROGRESS

“The Impact of Private Equity Ownership on Medical Technologies” (with Atul Gupta).

PE buyouts reduce innovation by 25%, driven by high-leverage LBOs; growth equity and minority stakes show no decline. Next: explore impacts on device safety and firm performance.

Status: NIHCM 2026–27 Research Grant Awardee.

“Global Spillovers from U.S. Regulation” (with Fernando Stipanovic).

A U.S. deregulation event raises U.S. trade (especially with pre-linked partners), increases inventor migration to the U.S., and increases innovation globally. Next: analyze how these inflows shift research direction.

“Entry Regulation and the Health-Care Supply Chain” (with Yunan Ji and Connie Xu).

Relaxing premarket clearance for certain devices increases manufacturer entry and lowers negotiated device prices; savings pass through to procedure prices and patient out-of-pocket costs.

Next: build a structural model to inform FDA/FTC policy.
